Charles Darwin left behind a legacy of pain, discrimination and the mass murder of millions. Yet, across the globe there were celebrations on November 24, 2009 of the 150th anniversary of the release of his book, On the Origin of Species, which introduced his theory of evolution. In its wake, Darwin's book, printed in 1859, both accelerated and created chasms of class and racial divides that continue to exist in a 21st century world.

Spawned from his theory of evolution were the concepts of natural selection and survival of the fittest that replaced God as Creator of humankind and the universe. The elimination of God and the devaluing of people of color did not originate from scientific evidence, but from the personal assessment of Darwin, an 1850's naturalist, who appeared anxious to please his domineering, anti-Christian father and a contingent of racist and atheist friends.

Not trained in science per se, Darwin's theory of evolution is denounced as "bankrupt" by 21st scientists across the globe. There exists no scientific justification for racism that separates people into inferior or superior groups. There exists no scientific evidence to deny God as Creator. Indeed, as modern science digs deeper into the human cell and reaches farther out into the cosmos, scientists are proclaiming they are more convinced and humbled than ever by the evidence of the Creator God and the equality of the human race.

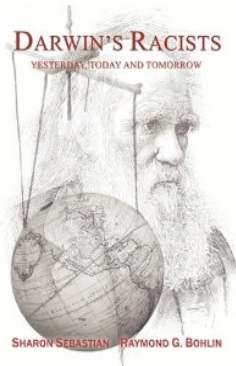

Some say Charles Darwin was a gentle man who meant no harm. But, in his written words he, himself, rejected the Christian God as Creator and deemed others, in particular people of color, as being inferior, sub-humans, and variants. It was renowned Harvard evolutionist, Stephen J. Gould, a staunch Darwinian, who concluded that though "...racist attitudes were common..." they were increased by "orders of magnitude" that had not previously existed until after Darwin's theory of evolution became accepted.

What most Americans don't know – is that based on DNA and modern science, we are ONE RACE - THE HUMAN RACE. Yet, Darwin's race-based theory that provides impetus for much of today's class struggle, racial strife and a devaluing of life of our disabled, elderly and poor, is taught to children of all ages. The new book, Darwin's Racists (www.DarwinsRacists.com), addresses today's social, political and racial divide in America. From Darwin's admirers Marx, Mao, Hitler and Sanger, to today's flagrant persecution of those who oppose the theory of evolution, the book informs and equips the reader as never before regarding Darwin's impact on people's lives today.

Charles Darwin's - is a shameful and racist legacy. That it exists and is celebrated today in the government, the schools, and the media is the shame of an uninformed world that perpetuates that some people are inferior and that there is no Creator God. It is time to stop Darwin and his baseless theory of evolution – or the shame will be ours.
